More than $32,000,000 was raised in four different equity issues, each of which was managed by Wood Gundy. Wood Gundy is also in the bond business. So far in 1969 we have managed jointly with

Commanding Officer's Message

*With Sincerest Thanks,
Peter A. G. Cameron, MLC*

It gives me a great deal of pleasure to welcome you to the 48th Highlanders Tattoo this evening. The event will mark the beginning of the 1969 Fund-Raising Campaign for the Toronto Unit, Canadian Cancer Society, for whose benefit it is being performed. We are pleased and proud to be able to assist in the promotion of this worthy cause, and I urge you all to do likewise when the opportunity presents itself.

Military Tattoos have long been a part of the military tradition we have inherited. In the United Kingdom, the well-known Aldershot and White City Tattoos are still staged regularly. The famous Gendarmerie Francaise was featured at the Autostad during Expo in 1967. The Tattoo itself provides an opportunity for the spectator to view not only the ceremonial aspects of military life as it was many years ago but also how these customs have been handed on to play their part in service life today.

Tonight's presentation of the 48th Highlanders Tattoo is staged by Officers, Warrant Officers, Non-Commissioned Officers and Men of the 48th Highlanders of Canada. Also on parade this evening as our special guests will be the Cadets of Royal Miltary College and the St. Andrew's College Cadet Corps. The latter's affiliation with the Regiment dates back to 1904.

I should like to acknowledge with thanks the assistance and co-operation of Brigadier-General G. R. A. Coffin, CD, Commander, Ontario Region; Brigadier-General S. V. Radley-Walters, DSO, MC, CD, Commander, 2 Combat Group; Commodore W. P. Hayes, CD, Commandant, Royal Military College; and Mr. Robert Coulter, Headmaster of St. Andrew's College. Without their help, the 48th Highlanders Tattoo could not have taken place. I should also like to thank Mr. Alan Wood and the Toronto Musicians Association for allowing both bands to donate their services this evening.

Thank you for coming. I hope you enjoy the show.

What's the look for Summer?

We've always been partial to a show of individuality... a taste of the uncommon to spice our thinking. And this year is no exception.

For example — from Warren K. Cook's new Spring-through-Summer collection we've chosen warm weather suitings and casual wear that express our penchant for the unusual. Colours are bolder. Patterns more pronounced. And styling more emphatic — longer length jackets with noticeable waist suppression, vent cuffs, full slant flap pockets.

May we suggest an early visit.

48th Highlanders

Founded through efforts of a determined group of Scottish Canadians who refused to accept the initial negative response of federal authorities, The 48th Highlanders of Canada marked their 77th year of continuous service as a militia unit in October of 1968.

Determination of the founding group has served Canadians well in peace and war. Units of The 48th have been a part of every First Canadian Contingent in all major conflicts since a group of volunteers endured its baptism of fire in the South African War of 1899-1900, winning for the Regiment its senior battle honour.

That first battle honour has been followed by 48 more, twenty-one of them awarded during the First World War and twenty-seven added in the bitter campaigns of the Second World War - a record unmatched by any Canadian unit still in service.

Known initially as The 48th Battalion (Highlanders), the unit was officially gazetted on October 16, 1891. Financed

The old Davidson tartan and the falcon's head regimental crest were adopted in respect to the Regiment's first Commanding Officer, John I. Davidson.

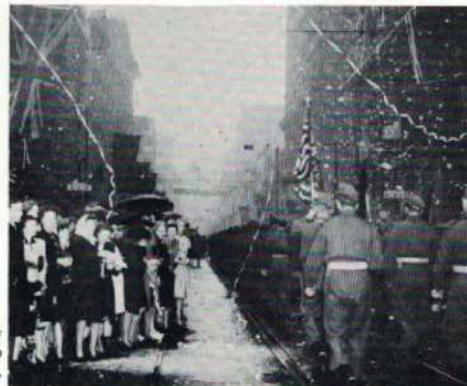

The 40 Commanding Officers who have followed LCol Davidson have been privileged to lead a Regiment whose motto "Dileas Gu Brath" - Faithful Forever - was an eternal pledge for 84 officers (two of them Commanding Officers) and 1,699 non-commissioned officers and men who gave their lives on active service, is a continuing inspiration to the thousands who have been proud to follow in their traditions.

This inspiration and the dedication it engenders have established The 48th Highlanders of Canada as one of the top Canadian militia units, recognized for its leadership in community as well as military service.

48th Highlanders

The Regiment Today

Keenly aware of their proud tradition as one of the country's oldest and most honoured military units, The 48th Highlanders of Canada are modern-day citizen soldiers serving nation and community with a dedication and vigour which have won the acclaim of service comrades and the gratitude of fellow citizens.

Assigned to new duties in the general re-organization of militia that follows service unification, The 48th responds with levels of achievement which have maintained its reputation as the best among Canada's reserve infantry regiments.

Presentation of the Gzowski Trophy in November of last year marked the third year in a row in which the unit has been recognized as pre-eminent among Canadian militia Regiment. The three-year sweep is a modern record for an award which has been in competition since the 1890's.

A platoon from "E" Company won further laurels for The 48th during 1968. No. 15 Platoon was judged the best in Ontario Region on the basis of field competitions held during summer training and was presented with the Kitching Trophy. Drawn from the regiment's most experienced personnel, "E" Company fills the 48th's new primary role as part of the combined militia permanent force Mobile Command Reserve Contingent.

The same platoon was winner of the Bayonet Trophy presented for the first time during 1968, to the winner of skill-at-arms competition among militia units taking summer training.

Under the command of LCol Peter A. G. Cameron, the 48th has maintained its record as one of the few militia units in Canada to operate consistently at full strength.

FORMAL CEREMONIES ON NATHAN PHILLIPS SQUARE SAW 48TH GRANTED FREEDOM OF CITY OF TORONTO ON REGIMENT'S 75TH ANNIVERSARY.

L COL P. A. G. CAMERON ACCEPTS GZOWSKI TROPHY, WHICH 48TH WON 3 YEARS IN A ROW, FROM BGEN G. R. A. COFFIN.

The high regard in which senior command holds the 48th and its achievements was reflected in the choice of LCol Cameron to undertake an assessment of the program under which officers and men from militia units across Canada are attached to the permanent force's 4 Canadian Mechanized Brigade Group serving with NATO in Europe as a part of their summer training. The 48th's Commanding Officer was assigned to examine and make a report and recommendations on the program, from the point of view of both the permanent force and militia units.

Fully committed to serve at nothing less than their top capability on military assignments, the officers and men active with the 48th have always found time to participate widely in the life of their community, in peace and in peril.

The unit's service in time of war is a matter of record, appreciated by all who cherish freedom. But for the 48th, service in battle is only part of their total commitment.

There are numerous major events and civic occasions to which the 48th lends dignity and pageantry with their colorful ceremonial drills and the stirring performances of their Pipes and Drums and Military Band.

There are many for whom memories of the devastation and destruction of Hurricane Hazel bring to mind assistance and service rendered by men of the 48th.

This evening's Tattoo, one of the most ambitious undertakings in military pageantry, is typical of the 48th approach to its dual role as military unit and group of citizens. Daring much as the former, it is the first Canadian military unit, including the active force, to accept the challenge of mounting and performing a full scale Tattoo. Caring fully as the latter, the unit has contributed any proceeds from its effort to the vital needs of the Canadian Cancer Society.

Royal Military College

The gymnasts taking part in this evening's program are cadets from the Royal Military College of Canada at Kingston, Ontario.

A military and naval centre almost continuously since it was first established in 1673, Kingston was initially named Fort Frontenac in honour of its founder, Louis de Buade, Count Frontenac. Point Frederick, the present day site of RMC, was for many years the Great Lakes Naval Headquarters and Dockyard of the Royal Navy.

Withdrawal of British troops from Canada after Confederation in 1867 left the young nation with few skilled soldiers to train and administer the militia. An Act of Parliament, passed in 1874, established a Military College "for the purpose of imparting a complete education in all branches of military tactics, fortification, engineering and general scientific knowledge . . . necessary for a thorough knowledge of the military profession".

The College opened on June 1st, 1876, with a class of eighteen Gentlemen Cadets, remembered today as the "Old Eighteen". The first Commandant, Colonel E. O. Hewett, chose the College motto "TRUTH, DUTY, VALOUR", and with first classes of cadets at RMC established the sound foundations of discipline, training and education which have become traditional and are maintained today.

RMC graduates, with a distinguished record of service in peace and times of conflict, have met with success out of all proportion to their numbers. RMC graduates have participated in every Canadian campaign, action or United Nations operation from the Northwest Rebellion of 1885 to the United Nations missions in Kashmir and Cyprus. They have received many honours and decorations, including the highest award for gallantry and bravery in the Commonwealth, the Victoria Cross. Apart from rising to the top ranks in military forces, they have reached high posts in many professions including government, business, law and medicine.

RMC, now one of three Canadian Military Colleges, shares this role with Royal Roads Military College, Victoria, B.C., and le Collège militaire royal de Saint-Jean, Quebec. While the first two years of academic and military training can be taken at any one of the three Canadian Military Colleges, all cadets complete their final two years and receive their degree and commission at the Royal Military College of Canada in Kingston, Ontario.

RMC acquired its degree-granting charter in 1959. The first year course at the Canadian Military Colleges is standard for all cadets. Partial specialization commences in the second year, and the final selection of courses and options is completed in the third and fourth years, in courses leading to degrees of Bachelor of Arts, Bachelor of Science and Bachelor of Engineering. The curriculum at the Canadian Military Colleges is designed to provide a sound foundation in the sciences for those cadets studying for an Arts degree, and to allow those cadets in Science and Engineering to obtain a healthy appreciation of the humanities.

ST. ANDREW'S COLLEGE

CADETS OF ST. ANDREW'S COLLEGE PRESENT ARMS IN SALUTE TO THE NATION IN SPECIAL PARADE DURING CANADIAN CENTENNIAL YEAR.

A residential school for boys, St. Andrew's College was founded in 1899 with the purpose of providing its students with a liberal education together with the benefits to be derived from living together under experienced leadership.

In 1911 the School became a public educational trust administered by a Board of Governors. Though established through the efforts of leading Presbyterians and still influenced by the Scottish tradition of education, the School has always been non-sectarian. However, St. Andrew's lays great emphasis on spiritual development, and the precepts of Christianity are guiding principles permeating every phase of School life.

Generous benefactions have provided buildings and grounds that are in many ways unique. Sound scholarship, self-control and keen participation in games are regarded as essential. All members of the teaching staff are men of character and experience; in an atmosphere of sensible discipline they make every effort to maintain sympathetic contact with the boys and their problems and to arouse a genuine interest in studies and worthwhile pursuits both in and outside of the classroom.

The Cadet Corps is affiliated with the 48th Highlanders of Canada and has had an unbroken and distinguished record since its organization in 1904. Membership in the Corps is required of all boys.

Over the years the Corps has furnished many officers for the Regiment — including one Commanding Officer for both units.

It is interesting to note that the uniform of the Corps follows that of the parent Regiment closely, the principal exception being use by the Corps of the famous tartan of the Gordon Highlanders with whom both Corps and Regiment are allied.

The School has been particularly fortunate in the continuity of its strong leadership, having had only four Headmasters in the 70 years of its history. Dr. G. W. Bruce served as a founding father and the first Headmaster. The present Headmaster, Mr. J. R. Coulter, was appointed in 1958, succeeding Dr. K. G. B. Ketchum, whose predecessor in turn was the Rev. D. Bruce Macdonald. These four men have guided the destiny of St. Andrew's College since the year 1899.

THE VOLUNTEER STORY

There are 100,000 volunteers working for the Canadian Cancer Society in Ontario. They know that cancer can be beaten, through research, treatment and education. They are willing to give of their time to help.

They plan a canvass for money to provide funds for research. Research is the key. Scientists are working night and day to find the permanent cure for this dread disease, stop-gap cures through surgery and chemotherapy for those already afflicted, and preventives to protect all Canadians. The work is slow and methodical, but it is effective. Statistics prove this. 60,000 new cases of cancer will be diagnosed this year. Five years from now, 52 per cent of these patients will be alive and well. In 1945, only 40 per cent of diagnosed cancer patients could expect to survive.

Our volunteers assist with treatment for cancer patients. They make and distribute dressings. They form a link of friendship and hope. They make arrangements for treatment and deliver patients to and from treatment centres. They provide Christmas presents for all patients, and even plan little gifts and surprises for them throughout the year, whether the patients are hospitalized or at home. And they help them solve family problems caused by or relating to their diseases.

Education is a major part of the volunteer program for the Cancer Society, because volunteers realize that only through education can the public learn to prevent cancer. Education also means early detection, the difference between life and death for the cancer patient.

Work in education also helps the Cancer volunteer protect himself and his family. Knowing the facts is the preventive that saves lives when cancer is involved. Cancer volunteers know that there are no hereditary factors, that contagion does not exist, and that though researchers suspect a viral connection is has not yet been proven.

You can help! Learn about cancer so you can spread the truth and prevent fear. Knowledge will protect you and your family.
